MOHONK MOUNTAIN HOUSE EMBRACES NATURE AND HISTORY WITH AN AWARD-WINNING ECO-FRIENDLY 30,000-SQUARE-FOOT SPA

Nature-inspired treatments and timeless design blend world-class Spa with unique historic hotel

NEW PALTZ, NY – Mohonk Mountain House, a strikingly beautiful Victorian castle destination resort set in the spectacular Shawangunk Mountains only 90 miles north of New York City in the Hudson Valley, announces their 30,000-square-foot Spa just being named the Number One Resort Spa in the United States by Condé Nast Traveler, which blends modern, environmentally conscious design with a noteworthy historic past.

Owned by the Smiley family since opening day, Mohonk Mountain House was founded in 1869 and was designated a National Historic Landmark in 1986. The recent Spa addition was designed to complement the hotel's charming and distinctive architecture, honoring its commitment to remain "the same, only better." The Spa at Mohonk Mountain House has more than 200 windows overlooking a majestic backdrop within a 40,000-acre natural setting. Local timber beams, cedar shingles, and native foliage create a sense of "bringing the outside in." Organic product lines are used in treatments and provide guests with some of the best services in the industry today.

Complementing the Spa's menu of more than 50 therapeutic services, are Signature Treatments such as the "Shawangunk Grit" Mineral Body Treatment using fine quartz grains quarried from the surrounding cliffs in a gentle exfoliation, combined with a soothing hydrotherapy bath. The Signature "Mohonk Red" Massage was created in honor of the Mohonk Red Witch Hazel that grows naturally on the grounds. It features a variety of massage modalities to relax and renew the recipient. Couples can choose to have a massage together in a private room, complete with a fireplace. Men's and teens' treatments, as well as hair and nail services, round out the comprehensive menu, which also features sampler packages. New this year are treatments dedicated to providing spa solutions for busy, modern lifestyles.

"We are delighted with our eco-friendly Spa," said Albert K. Smiley, III, former president and CEO of Mohonk Mountain House and fourth-generation descendant of Mohonk's founders. "It embodies all of the qualities we envisioned from the outset, and we are now poised to offer guests a complete restorative experience. The building is beautiful, yet functional, and inside one immediately feels calm, contemplative, and totally relaxed."

The Spa at Mohonk Mountain House was carved into a natural glacier-formed stone bluff overlooking pristine Lake Mohonk. Six hundred tons of quartz conglomerate stone excavated from the site were recycled into stone walls, fireplaces, and retaining walls throughout the Spa. A geothermal system uses the constant temperature of the earth to heat and cool the building, resulting in a quiet, comfortable ambiance and eliminating on-site emissions. A 2,000-square-foot "green roof" garden terrace is one of the most popular areas of the Spa wing.

Two 80-foot-long glass-enclosed verandas connect to a solarium with a stone fireplace and provide breathtaking views of the landscape. Sixteen treatment rooms, a heated outdoor mineral pool, and a full-service beauty salon, along with a comprehensive fitness center and yoga/motion studio, blend the ambiance of the eco-friendly Spa wing with the resort's Old World charm. The Spa wing also features a 60' by 30' indoor heated swimming pool with an underwater sound system, as well as expansive windowed walls and lofty exposed beams. Aqua Exercise classes are offered in the pool by certified professionals as scheduled.

The fitness center features Precor[®] cardio, strength and free-weight equipment. Yoga, meditation, Qi Gong, Pilates, and strength training classes are led by certified professionals on the "green roof" garden terrace (seasonally) and in the specially-designed yoga/motion studio. The yoga/motion studio's climate control system allows the flexibility to quickly switch between cool environments for aerobic activities and the warmer conditions preferred for yoga and meditation.

Private wellness classes are available and include yoga, Qi Gong, cardio mountain treks, and meditation. Guests may also learn to meditate in a private session with Director of Mindfulness Programming, Nina Smiley, Ph.D., coauthor of The Three Minute Meditator and Mindfulness in Nature.

The Spa at Mohonk Mountain House is open year-round, as is Mohonk Mountain House. For reservations and information call 855.274.4020, or visit www.mohonk.com.

Eco-Features of The Spa at Mohonk Mountain House

Interpretation and stewardship of the natural world have characterized Mohonk Mountain House since its beginning in 1869. Situated on the Shawangunk Ridge, Mohonk Mountain House pairs Old World charm and modern amenities within extraordinary natural surroundings. In creating the eco-friendly Spa at Mohonk Mountain House, the architects, Saratoga Associates, have “brought the outside in,” incorporating natural elements in all aspects of architecture, design, and decoration.

Many natural products and finishes were used for both the exterior and interior of the Spa. More than 17,000 tons of quartz conglomerate stone were excavated from the building site and 600 tons were reincorporated into the construction. Local timber and cedar shingles were also used to help the Spa wing blend seamlessly into the mountaintop.

Inside the Spa, stained ash wainscoting, moldings and pine floors support the natural theme, while the walls are adorned with artwork created by photographers Ruth Smiley, Daniel Smiley, and others. An environmentally-sound geothermal system comprised of forty-eight, 480-foot deep wells uses the constant temperature of the earth to heat and cool the building. This innovative system eliminates on-site emissions and is virtually soundless.

A 2,000-square-foot “green roof” garden terrace is located near the fitness level. The extensive green roof system consists of an eight-inch planting bed with a soil retaining system that allows for proper drainage. A specialized soil mixture supports growth of shallow root structure plants, grasses, herbs, mosses, and ground cover. This unusual green roof (most green roofs are in the full sun) is planted with predominantly shade-tolerant plants that attract birds and butterflies.

Fitness classes, yoga, Qi Gong, and meditation classes are taught outdoors seasonally on the green roof of the Spa wing, in the award-winning Mohonk gardens, and at Sky Top Tower, which has a view of six states. The world-class Spa at Mohonk Mountain House has truly captured the ambiance of its natural surroundings, as it has “brought the outside in.”
